

UC Irvine Extension's Personal Financial Planning program available fully online or in traditional face-to-face format (regular and accelerated), is registered with the Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. Students will acquire the job knowledge requirements to sit for the CFP® Board's CFP® Certification Examination.

UC Irvine Extension is the only school in the country to offer the FPA Residency Program each year. This intensive, week-long program bridges the gap between technical financial planning knowledge and understanding the financial planning process in the real-world. The strength of this unique program is drawn from experienced CFP™ practitioners who mentor participants throughout the week, providing valuable insight and expertise across the spectrum of client relationships and service.

For more information, please visit extension.uci.edu/fpa. This program is offered each October (we are currently sold-out for this year, but are already taking names for next year).

Anyone interested in becoming an instructor at UC Irvine Extension should first view our website at: https://webfiles.uci.edu/chog/BML_Recruitment

- Note to interested candidates: Please complete and return the Instructor Biography History form found at the above URL to begin the review process. The documentation requires a signature. Please mail, fax or email a scanned copy of your completed Bio Form. After careful review of the returned form, we will contact you and your references if we have any current openings in your line of expertise. UC Irvine Extension plans courses six months prior to a start of a quarter, so please be advised that a teaching assignment may not be immediately available.
- Please list the specific course titles you are qualified and interested in teaching under the "List Areas of Teaching Expertise" section of the Biography form. To see specific courses please visit: <http://unex.uci.edu/courses/>
- Note: If you are interested in teaching Personal Financial Planning courses, a CFP® designation is required.
- If there are instructor recruitment questions beyond the scope of the website, please contact Gina Cho at gina.cho@uci.edu
